FIVE MILLION SUFFICIENT TO PUT CHINA ON FEET, HE SAYS

Vice Minister Of Finance Has Program

SALARIES FIRST

Main Essential Is "Clear Thinking," He Asserts

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Sept. 4.—"Looking toward reunification and a stable government, the political situation of China is brighter now than it has been in a long time," were the opening comments of the optimistic Vice Minister in charge of the Ministry of Finance, Chang Ying-hua, in an interview this morning.

"Give me a small sum, say $5,000,000, and in three or four months I think I can promise a really basic financial system which will not have to depend on loans," that was the second thought of the Vice Minister.

On being asked to explain his position, Minister Chang Ying-hua said that despite the very depleted condition of the Chinese finances at the moment, he was not in favor of a large loan. If there is money on hand it might possibly mean more fighting to get it on the part of the less scrupulous.

Minister Chang asked only for enough money to keep the administration going so that a chance for clear thinking and acting may be had. Given this chance, he feels that he will be able not only to work out a successful scheme, but will be able to get the approval of Parliament and actually put it into operation.

To lack of constructive measures Minister Chang ascribed the failures of some of the other Ministers of Finance. They secured a loan which tided them through their office leaving the country worse off than ever.

When asked what specific changes he had in mind, Mr. Chang said that he would use part of this $5,000,000 to pay the current salaries of the government staffs in order to keep peace. The back pay would not be met from this source as that would have to come in the reorganisation plan later. This measure would give an opportunity for all hands to get down to hard work.

Next a general consolidation of the domestic loans would tend to stabilise the Chinese bank markets which would in turn react favorably on the finances of the whole country as well of the government and on foreign opinion.

Having done that, Minister Chang has in mind the presentation to Parliament of bills providing for new land taxes, and an income tax. He does not anticipate any trouble in getting these approved. The Wine and Tobacco Tax Administration is only in its infancy, and Mr. Chang sees in its reorganisation a source of increased revenue. He considers also that after a few months of respite he will be able to have interference with the salt taxes stopped so that the Central Government will get its full share of that revenue.

The salt revenue, when properly reorganised, will produce $130,000,000 a year. At present the expenses of the Salt Administration in different provinces are too great. Under proper management three men can do the work of ten, and the staff of the Salt Commissioners can be greatly reduced. When such preventative service is put into real working order, the smuggling of illicit salt will cease and $130,000,000 canbe easily obtained from the salt revenue.

WU ANNOUNCES PLAN TO PUT HIS TROOPS TO WORK

Hopes To Reduce Cost Of Upkeep By Three Fifths

(The following pronunciamento has been received by radio direct from the Chengchow headquarters of the Chihli forces)

BY WU PEI-FU

I propose to set an example to the other military commanders.

At present each soldier costs the people five taels a month. This is a direct burden on the people.

After two years my soldiers will cost the people only two taels each as I am going to make them work. They will be compelled to earn three-fifths of their pay through their own labor.

Through the profits from mines and even greater profits from agricultural enterprises, we shall take up afforestation on an extensive scale, devote also much money to the building of roads and their upkeep.

The roads and forests not only will be direct benefits for the people but they will also profit indirectly from easier communications. Once the people are roused by what I am starting to do with my men, we are certain of success.

Therefore, I hope to see, after reunification is brought about, a strongly centralised but thoroughly honest government formed. This, even with the army cut in half and its upkeep reduced to a fifth, will have plenty of strength to enforce its just demands.

It will then pay less than a fifth of what it now pays for worthless troops unfit for anything except banditry when leaving the service. My new army will be taught trades and be given an education in which many points are based on Christianity.

A POETIC PEEVE

A silly thing, this peeve of mine
It's never done me any harm
And yet, whene'er I meet with it,
It fills me with alarm.

I am a perfect lady
And I like to take my ease
To walk and talk politely
To say "By your leave" and "Please."

I must admit my dignity
Receive an awful slam
When I have to take a flying leap
To board a moving tram!

A PERFECT LADY.

HER PEEVE

Dear Mr. Editor: That certainly is the best invitation I've had in a coon's age! People generally are told to keep their peeves to themselves. But here we have THE CHINA PRESS regularly coaxing us into writing them.

Well, we enjoy THE CHINA PRESS more than you could guess up here at Kuling—which brings me to my peeve. We resubscribed recently and then didn't get the paper for three weeks. Then we received the whole three weeks' supply. And how would you like to eat 18 dinners one after another? Yours,

PUZZLED.

ECHO OF DAIREN

Moscow Envoys Ask Delay Until They Hear From Home

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 7.—A Changchun telegram dated September 6 says: The Changchun conference, before entering upon a full-dress debate has already been brought to a standstill over the question of the qualification of the Russian delegates.

According to the announcements made by Japan and Russia, at the conference held on the 6th, as the result of opinions exchanged regarding the credentials presented by the Tokio, Chita and Moscow delegates, the Japanese delegates proposed to conclude a commercial treaty between Japan, the Far Eastern Republic, and Soviet Russia on the basis of the proposals made at the Dairen conference, to effect neighborly relations between these countries, and to solve all other pending questions relating to the Far Eastern Republic, whereas the Moscow and Chita delegates raised opposition to the assertion made by the Japanese that the proposals placed before the Dairen conference should be made the basis on which the Changchun conference is to be conducted, and also insisted that with the object of effecting neighborly relations between the peoples of Japan, Soviet Russia and the Far Eastern Republic, full arrangements should be made as to all questions concerned based on the respective principles of Japan on one hand, Soviet Russia and the Far Eastern Republic on the other hand.

Owing to the difference of opinion in the foregoing matter, the delegates of Soviet Russia and the Far Eastern Republic have proposed to suspend the conference until they receive instructions from their respective Governments, and the Japanese delegates have agreed to the proposal.

Kokuminto Party Dissolved But Will Be Built Up Again

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 1.—The Kokuminto Party was this afternoon formally dissolved by the unanimous vote of some three hundred members who met at the Party headquarters.

Addressing the gathering, Mr. Inukai, the President, gave a review of the history of the party and its achievements since its establishment in 1911.

For the past ten years or more, he said, the Kokuminto has pursued a definite line of policy and has weathered all storms. Though it is thirty years since a constitutional form of government was inaugurated in this country, party politics have made little progress, the various parties apparently devoting more of their energy to self-aggrandisement than to the interests of the country

The result is that now the people are complaining of the shortcomings of the party system, the slackness of official discipline and the inefficiency of local government.

In order to bring about an improvement in the political situation and the relations between the parties and the people, it is necessary that the parties should be reconstructed on new lines.

This is the reason, he concluded, why the Kokuminto is being dissolved, and it is our hope that it may be merged into a stronger and more representative organisation.

JAPAN IS SINCERE ON DISARMAMENT, DENBY DECLARES

Secretary, Home From Trip, Lauds Tokio Government

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 5.—A San Francisco despatch of today's date states:

Interviewed by press representatives Mr. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, who arrived at San Francisco on September 1 after a tour in the Orient, emphasised that he had perceived that both the Government and the people of Japan had a very good feeling towards the United States and that the Japanese Government would without doubt fulfill with sincerity obligations accruing from the Four Power Treaty as well as the conventions reached at the Washington Conference.

When asked as to whether the rumor that Japan was disobeying the purport of the disarmament convention by constructing a large number of cruisers and submarine boats was true Mr. Denby flatly denied it. "It is true that Japan has not actually scrapped even one warship as yet," he said, "but this is a natural course Japan has to take, for all the Powers concerned are expected to put the Washington Treaties in force after the completion of ratifications. At any rate, I have perceived through my visit to the Orient that while none of the men-of-war has yet been scrapped, clouds of suspicion have been

Peking Cops, Unpaid For Ten Months' Getting Restless

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 4.—In view of the importance attaching to the financial position of the Central Government during the next few months, which is likely to have a strong bearing on the peace and order of Peking no less than on trade prospects generally, the following translation of a memorandum to the Government from the Chiefs of the Metropolitan Police and Gendarmerie dated August 26, is of interest:

"So long as the political situation in China remains unsettled so long must the finances be increasingly difficult to handle. This condition has caused the various departments of the Central Government to remain without their official salaries for more than ten months, although they send in repeated and almost daily requests.

"For the maintenance of order in Peking all are dependent upon the Metropolitan Police and Gendarmerie, but if the wave that is passing over the country of 'asking for pay' by direct action should extend to these local guardians of the peace the situation will become dangerous.

"The total pay of the three forces—gendarmerie, Puchun (infantry patrols) and police—is about $500,000, a month. During the course of the present year only three months' pay has been received in all, though various sums have been advanced to the men by their Chiefs.

"The continued maintenance of order in Peking is thus in jeopardy, and these troops should be paid without further delay."

Kemal Pasha Urges Advance To The Sea

(French Wireless)

Paris, Sept. 6.—The newspapers confirm the reports of the fall of Brussa and Alashehr.

The Turkish advance has reached the heights of Demdji-Damhs and is developing directly on Smyrna.

According to the Journal des Debats the Turkish army has advanced 200 kilometers.

Measures have been taken by the various consuls at Smyrna to assure the protection of their nationals.

The French cruisers Edgard Quinet and Ernest Renan are anchored off Smyrna.

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Sept. 6.—All classes of the population are jubilant over the Greek reverses and the certain prospect of the recovery of Turkey's lost territory in Asia Minor but there are no reports of hostility to residents of other nationalities.

It is declared that the Turkish success will not be followed by fresh claims. On the contrary, Turkey is ready to guarantee the rights of minorities and to agree to any other reasonable conditions compatible with her independence and territorial integrity.

Paris, Sept. 6.—Various newspapers urge the necessity for the restoration of both Asia Minor and Thrace to Turkey.

Constantinople, Sept. 6.—The latest news is that the Nationalists are at present operating in the neighobrhood of Alashehr.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha, in an order of the day to the army, says:

"By destroying in the great battle at Afiun-Karahissar and Tulubunar the essential elements of the enemy's Army you deserve well of your country.

"The Turkish nation has reason to be confident of the future. Further fighting is still to be expected in Anatolia, Soldiers, your first object is to reach the sea. Forward! Advance!"

Athens, Sept. 6.—It is stated here that the military situation is improving and the change of command appears to have made a favorable impression. The position of the Southern forces at Alashehr is considered secure.

The Minister of War and Chief of Staff have left for Smyrna to confer with the new Commander-in-chief.

The public, though realising in full the gravity of the situation, is somewhat reassured today.

Prices on the bourse indicate less anxiety.

Constantinople, Sept. 6.—Large additional captures are claimed in reports from authorised Kemalist sources. It is stated that Mazelli, Aidin and Soma have been captured and the Turks are marching on Bergama.

Important Greek military officers are among 400 officers and 10,000 men taken prisoners on September 2.

Paris, Sept. 6.—The impression obtains here that the French reply to the British Note with regard to the arrangement of a Graeco-Turkish armistice points out the difficulty of exercising direct pressure on the Angora Government although France is quite ready favorably to consider any practical suggestion to that end.

It is believed that the note expresses the opinion that the object desired can best be obtained by the belligerent general headquarters discussing armistice terms.

CHANEY WILL BE ARRAIGNED TODAY ON TWO CHARGES

Shanghai Pugilist Held For Forgery And Obtaining Goods Fraudulently

Joe Chaney, lightweight pugilist of Shanghai, who was arrested by the Municipal Police Wednesday on the eve of his departure for Manila, is to be arraigned this morning before Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China on charges of forgery and of obtaining goods by false pretenses.

According to information supplied to the police, which led to Chaney's arrest, some time ago he obtained possession of a check book, the property of an employe of the British American Tobacco Company by which Chaney formerly was employed. In the informations that have been filed by Maj. C. P. Holcomb, Acting United States District Attorney, it is alleged that Chaney signed the name of the owner of the check book to checks which he gave in payment for goods that he purchased at several jewelry stores.

It is reported that a quantity of the goods Chaney obtained in this manner have been recovered. When he was searched at Hongkew Police Station after his arrest a ticket for Manila by the Pacific Mail Lines President Cleveland, sailing today was found on his person.

Chaney waived a preliminary hearing yesterday morning when his case was called in the court of United States Commissioner N. E. Lurton and he then was bound over for trial in the United States Court for China under bail of Gold $1,000 which he was unable to supply. After a plea is entered in the case in the U. S. Court for China this morning Judge Lobingier will fix a date for trial of the case

It is reported that Chaney came to Shanghai after a period of service in the United States army.

Hospital Admits Fatal Accident

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Sept. 4.—The authorities of the Peking Union Medical College Hospital have given this Agency the following frank account of the death of Chief Radio Electrician Quinn, U. S. N. at that Hospital last Tuesday.

"Mr. Quinn, a petty officer of the U. S. Navy, was referred to the Peking Union Medical College Hospital on August 15th, by Dr. Warner, the Post Surgeon. He was found to be suffering from a moderate sized carbuncle over the right scapular region. This was excised under gas and oxygen anaesthesia. Convalescense was unusually prompt and satisfactory.

"On August 28th, Dr. Taylor inspected the wound and found it ready for skin grafting. He ordered the assistant resident, who is making a special study of treatment of carbuncles, to do the skin graft under local anaesthesia. This surgeon has done many skin graft operations and was considered fully qualified to handle the case.

"By mistake the surgeon was handed a solution of cocaine instead of novocaine. This was injected subcutaneously preparatory to doing the operation. Before, however, the skin graft had been performed, the patient began to show symptoms of cocaine poisoning and the mistake was discovered. In spite of every effort to save his life, he succumbed after about two hours.

"The patient came to his death through the accidental administration of cocaine instead of novocaine."

WANT EMBARGO ON SILVER COINS MINTED IN ANHUI

An embargo on silver coins minted in the province of Anhui is asked in a petition presented by the Chinese Bankers' Association here to the Director General of the Customs Administration.

The petition is inspired by the receipt of information that Anhui contemplates the minting of an unusually large quantity of coins for exportation to Shanghai and distribution through a foreign bank. In view of the present financial crisis in Anhui it is held that the circumstances warrant auspicion that the coins will not come up to standard.

The Chinese Bankers' Association at its last meeting passed a resolution for the taking of steps to contruct a new home on the site at present occupied on Hongkong Road and it is stated that twenty bids have been received from contractors. It is expected that the contract will be awarded in the near future.

U. S. Moving Toward Universal Financial Conference, Is Belief

(China Press Service)

London, Sept. 6.—The United Press learns from Washington that the American government has started negotiations with banks of sound currency countries to study methods of stabilising currencies by common action.

President Harding is said to have taken the initiative by sounding leading bankers in England, Japan and Scandinavia as to the possibilities of stabilising currencies. Harding's action is considered to be the prelude of a future universal financial conference.

Shaw Warns Young Authors To Protect Their Film Rights

(China Press Service)

London, Sept. 5.—George Bernard Shaw has been offered $100,000 a year for five years by an American syndicate to produce two motion-picture films each year. The author made this announcement himself at a dinner of the Society of Authors in London.

Declaring that the cinema rights of a single story might be worth $50,000, he urged young authors not to be too ready to give concessions to cinema producers or literary promoters, among whom, he said, there was unfortunately no absolute standard of honesty.

"A man who sells a table or a chair charges no more than the cost of the article plus a reasonable percentage of profit," he said, "but nothing of the kind applies to the publishing, theatrical or cinema business. The truth is the whole thing is a gamble, and producers who make perhaps one success in 10 or 20 ventures want to make that success pay for all failures."

U. S. Shipping Board Trying Out Scheme To Cut Coal Bills

(China Press Service)

Washington, Sept. 5.—The horsepower of engines on the various types of Shipping Board vessels is to be tested by special apparatus purchased by the Fuel Conservation Department. This was announced yesterday by Captain C. A. McAllister, vice-president of the American Bureau of Shipping and chairman of the special Shipping Board committee, as a step in the plans to reduce the $45,000,000 annual fuel bill. Captain McAllister said that accurate information on the power of many government ships was not available and must be obtained before adequate results could be obtained.

It was said yesterday that a survey of the government vessels now in operation shows that 85 percent are oil burners, and consequently not affected by the coal strike. The Shipping Board has a contract for its oil supplies to next January at $1.05 a barrel.

Radio Stimulates Growth Of The Hair

London, July 29.—When every one possesses a home wireless and operates a pocket phone there will be no more baldheaded men, according to the theory of the Hounslow Wireless Society. It maintains that a radio operator who is constantly broadcasting and listening in dvelops a remarkable crop of hair, owing to the electrical waves. The organisation points out that this is of great advantage in operating, as the hair helps to eliminate discomfort due to the receiver.

A Harley street physician believes there may be something in the theory. He says there are certain kinds of electrical waves known to stimulate the skin, and it is quite likely that the home radio's popularity will affect the sale of hair restorers.

The secretary of the Wireless Telegraphists Association says: "To my knowledge there is only one baldheaded operator in London, and he is Marconi's traffic inspector, who gave up regular operating ten years ago."

INSTINCT vs. INTELLIGENCE

Why aren't all humans as wise as some animals? During the season of plenty these make provision for the wants of the winter when they no longer can secure food.

The bear fattens himself for his period of hibernation; the bee hoards honey; the squirrel stores away a supply of nuts.

What animals do through instinct—men should do through intelligence and will-power.

SHANGHAI CLUBS DEFEAT VISITING LAWN BOWLERS IN TWO CLOSE MATCHES

Yangtszepoo Men Trim Hongkong And Recs Beat Hankow

BY "THE SHOT"

Both interport teams were on show yesterday, the Hankow contingent meeting the Recs while the Hongkong four met the Yangtszepoo.

The latter game was looked upon as being the plum as the "Big Four" did duty for the Waysiders and most enthusiasts journeyed to see them.

The game showed that the Crown Colony contingent are improving at each successive game and we may look forward to some good class stuff in the trundling line when the big games take place.

The first few ends were fairly even but Wallace's gang jumped into the lead by a neat six kindly helped along by Sandy Malcolm misjudging his strength at the 7th end and trailing the jack to his opponents' advantage. A little later Geordie with one of his special trailed the jack and gave his side four—a splendid effort. Throughout the game the bowling was keenly contested and at the 20th end the teams peeled 18 all. At the last end the Waysiders managed to notch a welcome two and save the honor of the big four and their club.

Both teams played well but while Malcolm and Alec Macgregor were the best of the homesters, Wallace and Gerrard were the pick of the visitors.

Those who attended the Recs match were pleasantly surprised at the very solid exhibition put up by the Hankow team. Practically every end was keenly contested and while the Hankow team scored at 12 ends to their opponents 9, the Recs were able to carry on their winning sequence mainly by the aid of two 4's at critical stages of the game. The visitors as a team played splendidly and while it is hard to individualise I think that Gray and his third, Mr. Owen, played as well as anything we have seen in the Interport games. I must congratulate Mr. Crooks on the team he has brought down and they have only to keep up to their initial standard of play to make both Hongkong and Shanghai look to their laurels. On the Recs side both Young and Landers have played better and while Guy was not doing things every end the two fours were the result of his forcing shots when his opponents were lying pretty safe. G. Ackerman as skip played a very solid game throughout and was the best man on the side.

Country vs. Columbia Club.
S. C. C. vs. Portuguese.

Second Division

Recs vs. C. S. F.
Country Club vs. Police.
Portuguese vs. S. C. C.

The Japanese are on byes in both divisions.

For Sunday the clubs will play the regular schedule formerly listed for September 1 as follows:

SHANGHAI TAKES A 17-8 LEAD OVER HONGKONG IN INTERPORT SWIMMING GALA

Team Race And Polo Help To Pile Up Point Score; Gala Continues Tonight

Shanghai took a good lead in points on the first night of the big three interport swimming gala opened at the Rowing Club last night, with Hongkong and Kobe participating. The local swimmers placed in two rousing speed events, the 220 yard free style and the 100 yard breast stroke, and then made a clean sweep of the water polo and the team race. Hongkong scored first and third in the two shorter distances with Shanghai taking second. Three points went for first position, two for second and one for third. In the team race the total of seconds by which the winning team won to a maximum of six decided the count. Shanghai won by an even six seconds. In the water polo the majority of goals scored to a maximum of seven was the count. Shanghai made the seven points with three other goals to spare.

Hongkong made a brave showing last night, with their wins and their thirds in the first two interport events of the meet. After the 100 yards breast stroke interport event, which Busschaert barely won in a final spurt over MacCabe who had been leading throughout, local swimmers and enthusiasts were in doubts as to their chances for the meet. Brown had barely lasted throughout the fast 220 yards events, and other Shanghai swimmers had failed to show.

The team race, however, with its six points on the Shanghai side of the column revived all of the earlier evening hopes. H. Goldman and Jack swam their two lengths nose and nose, and A. P. Goldman and Noronha neither gave nor gained an inch. J. B. Brown took a little lead against Hall, and C. N. Brown with a terrific sprint ran away from Laing, and cinched the race for Shanghai. Brodie and Fetherstonhaugh easily held the advantage against Johnstone and Lyon. Kobe scratched the race due to one of their men suffering from a bad leg.

In the Water Polo Shanghai swam and threw the ball right through Kobe. The game was fast and hard, with the local men showing greater strength, better combination and stronger and more accurate shooting. The score was 5-0 at half time, Wallin scored four and Encarnacao one in the first half. In the last period Encarnacao counted three.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange:—The London price of silver has advanced during the past week from 35 1/16d. to 35 5/8d. for both ready and forward, for the first part of the week the market has reported as featureless but latterly India is said to have been in the market. Locally exchange has followed the course of silver and the T.T. rate on London has moved from 3s. 5 1/4d. to 3s. 5 3/4d. The tone of our market throughout has been steady and at times even firm, but again speculators have been the chief cause of support. Business has been doing above official quotations, 3s. 6d. being offered for near delivery and 1/8d. better for November-December, the forward premium being due to abundance of cash. There was a fair demand from importers at 3s. 6d. yesterday, but this was counteracted by speculative sales and a few Bills and no weakening of the market occurred. At the close, however, an easier tone prevails and nothing above current rates is offering for sterling for near delivery, and 1/8d. over forward. Exports still remain quiet.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 41,244,000, an increase of Tls. 594,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $34,390,000, an increase of $460,000.

Estimated value Tls. 66,005,000 as against Tls. 46,500,000 held at this time last year.

Coal Market

In their report on the coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company state:

Japan Coal:—We have nothing to add to our remarks of a fortnight ago. The market continues exceedingly quiet and there is no demand from any quarter nor is there likely to be any for some time.

Fushun Coal:—Inquiries are coming in steadily and there is a fair amount of coal being exported from Dalny to China coast ports and elsewhere.

Fuchung Coal:—No change.

Kaiping Coal:—Since last writing supplies from the North have been more regular, but deliveries under contract monopolise all the available tonnage, leaving no margin for the accumulation of stocks.

The market is steady and prices remain firm.

Lace Market

Industrial Export (China) Co.

There is little change since our last report. The demand for narrow laces from the U.S.A. is still maintained and small orders continue to be received. The biggest demand is for Picot 6 Hole and 9 Hole which can be obtained in the market at 9 cents and 14 to 14 1/2 cents respectively for first class quality. Rose and leaf pattern is also in fairly large demand, and as high as 1.6 1/2 per Hole is being paid.

Assorted patterns can be bought at 1.5 1/2 to 1.6 per Hole.

The demand for Irish Crochet Laces seems to have stopped entirely with the exception of Irish Picot for which considerable inquiries have been received. Buyers, however, hold out for 9 to 9 1/2 cents per yard, whereas latest advises from Swatow report prices ruling 10 to 11 cents per yard with little stocks.

Ruling Prices are as follows:

Filet Laces (not less than 1c mesh to the inch): 1.6 per Hole

Irish Laces:

Beading 9 1/2 cents per yard.

Elsie Ferguson

IN

"COUNTERFEIT"

The charm of the South, the lure of the Secret Service, the wealth and fashion of Newport, the crimes of a band of crooks preying on the "idle rich," the mystery, love, adventure that make a picture live—they are all in "Counterfeit."

Beautiful Elsie Ferguson in a role that runs the gamut of her power as an emotional actress.

Exquisite gowns, magnificent scenes, absorbing romance, and a fight that stirs the blood—a picture of real distinction.

Robbing a safe, and surprised by the man she loved! Innocent, too, and yet she couldn't explain.

But when, through her, the police surprised a band of counterfeiters in Newport Harbor, the man discovered that his future wife was an agent of Uncle Sam.

September 7, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ½d in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 70 cents and the London-New York cross rate to 446⅝.

Our Official Sterling rate today was dropped to 3-5½, the Gold Dollar rate to 77¼, the Yen rate raised to 62¼ and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market at the opening was uncertain but inclined to be easy, some business in Sterling being done at 3-5⅝ for near delivery and 3-5 11-16 for forward. Gold Dollars at that time were done at 77⅝ for near delivery and 77¾ for forward.

Later on in the day the market firmed up and in the afternoon particularly became very strong indeed, business being done at successively higher rates until at the close there were sellers of Sterling at 3s. 5 13/32d. September, 3s. 5 7/16d. October, and 3s. 5 13/32d. November-December. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the close at 77⅞ September, 78 October and 78¼ November-December delivery. There were seller of Yen at 61½ for October forward.

Banks as a rule were not anxious to buy any currency for forward delivery but were inclined to buy moderately for this month. Some business in Francs was done at 995 for forward delivery but there were more sellers than buyers at this rate.

Banks were quoting 3-6⅝ for Sterling bills, 79½ for Gold Dollar bills and 1025 for Franc bills. The Continent and India sold silver in London yesterday and the market is reported as steady as is also the New York market.

Mr. Wu—Reformer!

WU Pei-fu has just issued a most interesting pronunciamento at Chengchow headquarters of the Chihli forces. It is interesting because of the text of the statement and because of the views expressed therein, but it is also exceptionally interesting in that it shows that Wu has either read the book Dr. Sun Yat-sen wrote several years ago, or some of Dr. Sun's envoys, or vice versa, have discussed the question of a labor army with him.

At any rate the suggestions put forward by the Chihli chieftain closely parallel Dr. Sun's views concerning the reduction of the armed forces of China by drafting them for reforestation, road building and other useful work. Wu would have the soldiers, who now cost the Chinese people Tls. 5 each per month, he says, earn part of their keep by improving the communications system of the country, eventually, we suppose, returning to their home villages to sit and bask in the sun along a highway filled with chugging motor cars flitting over the good roads they made instead of taking pot-shots at each other in some outlandish place quite inaccesible to interested newspapermen.

The successful operation of such a scheme would unquestionably do a great deal toward reuniting China. With the thousands of soldiers who now hold up tea house corners completely tuckered out after their hard day's grind on the village roads they'll be too tired to fight, or even have the least flickering inclination to engage in mortal combat against some other Chinese who happens to be paid by some other Tuchun. Better communication between the various parts of the country will create a great deal better feeling between antagonistic parts. And if they are able to get the soldiers to co-operate on road-building only Allah himself knows what wonders the Tuchuns and Super-Tuchuns and Super-Super-Tuchuns will be able to perform.

The most entrancing idea in the statement, however, is the similiarity of views that seem to be running in Dr. Sun's and Wu Pei-fu's brains. If Sun and Wu can think with such complete accord on the question of converting lazy soldiers into busy beavers there is a possibility of them thinking along the same lines and agreeing on other questions. Therein lies the most rosy prospects of Wu's pronunciamento, for with Dr. Sun and Wu in accord China will at last have the long-sought opportunity to reunite into one great cohesive, functioning mass instead of being parcelled out among as many high falutin' titled militarists while the country goes to the dogs with the same surety that a tin-can follows the line of least resistance and goes wherever the dog's tail goes.

Codifying International Law

(New York Times)

It is a threadbare old saying that international law is neither international nor law, but a body of rules and usages. Each State can enforce its own rules against its own subjects; but there is no Sheriff or posse comitatus of the world. Yet isn't the common law a growth of rules and customs? It is rather an encouragement than a discouragement that the law of nations has been a slow growth. Slowly its authority increases. It rests upon a public opinion steadily becoming more enlightened and humane. Should its rules, the large part of which, owing to the slow and difficult way in which it has progressed, are without the desired clearness and exactness, be codified?

In The American Journal of International Law Professor Theodore S. Woolsey suggests a practical form of codification. The term ordinarily means the reduction to statutory form of unwritten or case law. As there is no Parliament of the World to do this for international law, the equivalent "is the general acceptance by States under treaty." To reach this, two steps are required: First, the law must be scientifically determined; second, every State must agree to be bound by it. Professor Woolsey calls the first process "scholarly"; the second, "political." Take an illustration of both processes. At the beginning of the Civil War the late Francis Lieber drafted for the War Department a code of the rules of land warfare. Of course it bound only our army and Government. It gave, however, something concrete and definite for the publicists to refashion and remold. Individually and collectively they kept at it for nearly fifty years. From their labors, from the two Brussels conferences, from the Oxford meeting of the Institute of International Law, came at last in 1899 and 1907 at The Hague the acceptance by treaty by forty-five States of the laws of war on land. It is to be observed that these laws "were tolerably uniform in most particulars" when Professor Lieber drew up his code.

So actual codification advances, but Professor Woolsey notes that "its progress has been in a highly contenticus field." Thus the London conference of 1909 on naval warfare failed because Great Britain wouldn't accept the proposed changes in the rules. "Why has the international world attacked the hardest problems first?" Because it has never tackled codification as a question by itself, but has sought mainly security from the evils of war. Why not begin with matters on which there is substantial agreement; which, at any rate, won't provoke sharp controversies? For instance, the rights and duties of diplomatic agents; the status and property of aliens; "the acquisition of territory; territorial waters; jurisdiction on the open sea and in the air; extradition, copyrights, and so on; and many of the topics included in neutrality are not controversial."

That is, let States undertake codification progressively, deal with the easier problems first, put their conclusions into treaty form and get them ratified. Thus a code of international law would be gradually built up. It would not be finished for years, "but so far as it went it would be the law interpreted and enforced by the Permanent Court of International Justice." That interpretation would increase its precision and authority. This practical test would show what changes in substance or language were needed. These would be discussed and remodeled in conference and the treaties correspondingly revised. Professor Woolsey wisely insists on this. One of the stock arguments against a code is that it tends to become Medo-Persian, inflexible. To the counselors of perfection, the builders in a day of the City of the Sun, Professor Woolsey's plan may seem too deliberate; but it is practical and rich in saving common sense. It is best not to attempt too much and to follow the line of least resistance:

"The way to begin is for one State, the United States for instance, to invite other States to join it in a conference, the delegates to be jurists of renute, to discuss the desirability of a code of international laws and usages to govern their relations, and if agreed to refer to a subcommittee or committees one or more topics, these committees to report their codified rules back to the main body of delegates. Upon the adoption by the conference of any chapter of rules, the remaining step would be ratification by each State concerned."

The writer thinks, and it seems probable, that codification would become easier as the international mind got used to the process. But suppose that the codes are not ratified by all the nations that take part in the conference—"shall they govern those who accept them in their relations with those who do not? Such is not the present usage. * * * Recourse must be had to time and the force of public opinion to bring all nations into line."

Episcopalians For Industrial Uplift

Chicago, July 29.—A fundamental change "in the spirit and working of our social and industrial life" is necessary to restore the world to peace and order, according to social service principles adopted by the National Council of the Episcopal Church. The declaration has been recommended for adoption as the fixed policy of the church at the Episcopal General Convention at Portland, Ore., September 6.

The fundamental change proposed can ony be effected, according to the declaration, "by accepting as the basis of all our relations the principle of co-operation in service for the common good, in place of unrestricted competition for private or sectional advantage." The declaration is as follows:

"Christian Social Service means the application of the principles of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all the relations into which men and women are brought whether in government, industry, social or political life.

FOR GOLDEN RULE

"It means definite obedience, by all who bear the Christian name and accept the Christian religion, to Christ's law of duty toward one's neighbor—a neighbor being every person, whether living near or far away, with whom one can establish the relationship of service.

"We understand the Christian religion to have a larger meaning and field than has been commonly recognised and that its message concerns justice and righteousness, fairness and the application of the golden rule, to all men and by all men, in whatever position or relation in life they may be. We understand that a position of any advantage conferred by material means, education, social or official position carries with it responsibility toward those with whom one has to deal and forgetfulness of such responsibility means the disobedience of the law of God.

"The Church must serve all people, the unprivileged and the privileged alike, and must continue to stand for mercy, charity and compassion toward those who are in trouble; but beyond that it must stand for social justice, remembering that Jesus Christ died for all and, that one soul is, in His sight, and should be in the sight of His disciples, as precious as another.

"Those who are in position in business, professions or any calling in life, where they have the service of others, whether as wage earners or in any other relation, should recognise the right of the employed to full opportunity for self-development. The welfare of human life should be emphasised above the value of property. Wages sufficient for a wholesome living should be the return for efficient service and the more that can be done in making the employer and the employed partners in business with a feeling of common and friendly interest and mutual service, the better.

"We understand that Christian social service means following the example of the Master, who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to mean obedience to the law of God. 'Though shalt love thy neighbor as thyself,' and that it is our work to bring the members of the Church to realise this and so to fill out the ideal of Christ toward humanity."

LIFE ABOVE PROPERTY

The National Council recommends to the General Convention that, in the name of the Church, it take action as follows:

"Be it resolved, That in sympathy with the resolution of the Lambeth Conference of 1920 we desire to emphasise our conviction that pursuit of mere self-interest, whether individual or corporate, will never bring healing to the wounds of society. It should be recognised as an outstanding and pressing duty of the Church to convince its members of the necessity of nothing less than a fundamental change in the spirt and working of our social and industrial life. This change can only be effected by accepting as the basis of all our relations the principle of co-operation in service for the common good in place of unrestricted competition for private or sectional advantage.

"Resolved further, That in obedience to Christ's teaching as to covetousness and self-seeking, the General Convention calls upon all members of His Church to be foremost both by personal action and sacrifice in maintaining the superiority of the claims of human life to those of property. To this end it would emphasise the duty which is laid upon all Christians of putting human values first, of avoiding extravagance and waste and of upholding a high standard of honor and thoroughness in work. In a word, they must set an example in subordinating the claim for rights to the call of duty."

Long Lost Painting Of An American Beauty, Unearthed In London, Reveals A Romance

An interesting and romantic picture story has just come to light in the discovery of a beautiful portrait by Carolus Duran, the French artist, in the storeroom of the Hotel Claridge, London. The picture had been given up for lost by its owner for twelve years.

The portrait, painted by Duran in Paris at his best period in 1887, was of the wife of an American, General A. C. Whittier. It was sent to London on its completion and remained there more than twenty years, until the death of Mrs. Whittier. The General, then wishing to be near his daughter, Princess Serge Belosselsky Belozersky, as The London Times tells the story, decided to live in England, where she was. The valued picture was sent ahead to the Claridge, carefully packed, but the General, following on a later boat, died on the way.

The picture went on to the Claridge, and when it arrived there it was opened and examined, but there was no clue to the owner. It was placed in a storeroom and from time to time the package was opened to see that the picture was safe, and then closed again, and the mystery was unsolved. Not even the name of the artist was known.

It was by chance recently that the Princess Belosselsky Belozersky mentioned to some one connected with the Claridge the loss of her mother's portrait years before. She was asked to describe it, and her description tallied exactly with the mysterious painting which had been so long in the Claridge storeroom. There was one peculiarity about the painting which made the identification doubly certain. After it had been completed, the subject had thought that the artist had given her the appearance of being too stout, and he had cut down the size of the figure. This gave the hands, which had been crossed in the lap, the appearance of floating in the air.

The portrait shows a woman in evening dress of the period of 1887, a black gown, set against a crimson background, and with a large bustle.

England Back To Port Wine

London, July 29.—England is again developing a taste for old tawny port, and, according to reliable figures, the country is consuming more of this than of any other wine. The romantic old port rooms made famous by Dr. Johnson in his age are regaining their old glory, and the days when man's drinking ability was measured by the number of bottles of port consumed after dinner threaten to return.

This outstanding development has been brought to the attention of wine merchants since the war. At first they believed it was a passing fancy, as the medicos were outspoken in their warnings against the generous and habitual consumption of port, but now they are ready to admit that there are signs of England returning to the drinking habits of a hundred years ago.

PORT MORE EXPENSIVE

There is more than one logical reason for this. The best wines come high, owing to tax levies, and the whisky fails to satisfy many seasoned palates, because virtually all of it is 30 percent under proof. Port, though it has increased proportionately in price, is not as expensive as other favorites, as a bottle costs well under half the price for whisky.

At the same time, the vintage port available in the old haunts, such as El Vino and Sherif's Bodega short, compares favorably with the old fruitiness and carries a gratifying kick. Mine host states that all classes of society seem to be turning to port for solace, despite the medicos' unanimous verdict that it will bring gout and rheumatism and cause the maladies of early age, which a couple of centuries back cut down so many of the country's brilliant men before they had had an opportunity for proving how brilliant they were.

Queries as to the consumption of port have brought out from the dealers many other interesting facts on England's drinking. The people are no longer laying down wines. The old vintages of claret are actually cheaper than quite recent vintages. The public cannot obtain good wine at a reasonally cheap price in the fashionable restaurants owing largely to the careless table manners of the younger generation.

CONNOISSEURS ARE FEWER

Charles A. Labin, head of a West End firm of wine shippers, said: "Port is most certainly the most popular wine among the general public at the present time. Much greater quantities of this are consumed than any other, but the connoisseurs, alas? are fewer nowadays. Vintage port no longer exists save in a few private cellars, but branded ports, with tawnies the favorite chiefly favored, are very good.

"People who formerly laid down wines and rare cognacs no longer do. They cannot afford it. Even in entertaining guests they are buying, as it were, from hand to mouth in quite small quantities.

"Champagne in this country is dead—also cognac—killed by the high Government tax. There are large quantities of the cognac in the country, but owing to the combination of high first cost and heavy duty it is beyond the means of even the well-to-do. The principal demands are for medical purposes. Burgundies and clarets are plentiful and cheap and the old vintages are actually cheaper than the recent, because shippers still have large bins full, and they are forced to realise on these in order to lay in newer ones for later consumption."

He said that young fox trotters were responsible for the high prices for wines in the restaurants, because they paid more attention to dancing than their table, tipped over the glasses left lighted cigarettes on the tablecloth or flicked them onto the floor, causing heavy losses annually to the fashionable cafes which were forced to make up by charging prices for wines about 100 percent above retail.

Will The Insects Survive Man?

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

The sudden resurgence of mosquitoes and other insects inimical to man this Summer recalls a subject that I have two or three times touched upon in these articles but which has never appeared more apropos than at the present time, viz., the possibility, distinctly recognised by some entomologists that the insects may be an ascending type of terrestrial life, destined ultimately to predominate over all others in the struggle for existence.

On its face the proposition looks absurd, but the apparent absurdity disappears when the facts are closely examined. Not that such examination by any means demonstrates the coming of insect empire, but simply that it furnishes contingent evidence of such a possibility.

This is particularly true when we associate with the insects proper the many minuter creatures which more or less closely imitate insect forms and ways, and multitudes of which parasitically attack the larger animal and plant forms, both externally and internally.

However, there is a beneficial element from our point of view in the existence of these parasites for, in many cases, they tend most powerfully to keep down the number of insect tribes. Man has learned that the surest way to fight entomological pests is to set parasites upon them, calling in the more minute to destory, by virtue of greater numbers and increased voracity, the less minute.

But nature seems to have guarded against this kind of warfare by protecting all of her creatures except those that she herself is ready to exterminate with the shield of ultimate immunity; that is, by enabling them to develop resistant qualities that defy the parasites and the poisons. So it happens that noxious insects sometimes return as strong in numbers as at first after what seemed an overwhelmingly successful campaign for their destruction.

The mosquitoes have exhibited this recrudescent power in a very notable way this year, apparently in consequence of the stimulation afforded by a season specially favorable to them. They have come back in clouds in places from which it was supposed that they had been permanently banished. Species not seen, or but very rarely seen for years past, have suddenly returned with sharpened lances and in multiplied hordes.

There seems to be almost no limit to the focundity of such creatures, and if conditions should so favor them that out of the innumerable embryos produced ten or a hundred times as many as now reach maturity could survive, it is hard to say how well the human race could stand up against their attacks.

But the greatest menace of the insects is aimed indirectly at us through the plant world. One can never go far into the country without seeing here and there the huge white skeletons of the great chestnut trees destroyed by wholesale almost a generation ago, by a sudden invasion of insect enemies who came unseen, or unnoticed by the majority of people, swarming and gathering in silence, individually so insignificant that it seemed laughable to say that they could destroy the life of a mighty tree. And, yet, so irresistible were they by virtue of numbers, that in a few seasons every chestnut tree over thousands of square miles had perished.

Again and again similar histories of insect vandalism affecting now one and now another species of plant life have been recorded. Sometimes they attack, with invincible power, forms of plant life, such as grains and tubers, that are directly tributary to the food supply of humanity.

Often a species of insect that had not been recognised as specially inimical to plant life in the countries where it long had been familiar, accidentally is carried across a sea or mountain barrier, and immediately upon its introduction into a new air and among new varieties of vegetation it becomes a swiftly growing and spreading terror, a pest that threatens the food supply of a nation, and has to be fought like an invading and marauding army.

But for his gift of superior intelligence there can be little question that man would have been actually driven from some of the most desirable parts of the earth by insect foes—and, in fact, he has been so driven from relatively narrow regions. The insects show no sign of diminishing in numbers.

It is possible that they and their allies of the minute world were the effective instruments in putting an end to the reign of the Brobdingnagian dinosaurs, who had no brain power to meet the power of numbers. Some species show remarkable intelligence.

I never look at an ant at its work, or a spider spinning its cunning web and then lying in wait for a victim, without wondering if their descendants may not be still driving tunnels and setting traps on the ageing earth after the last man has taken his last look at the setting sun.

TO KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets help bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 60 cents the vial, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96, Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

RAIL CONFERENCE HALTED BY WAR, TO BE RESUMED

Eighth Meeting To Take Up Many Important Questions

(Chung Mei Service).

Peking, Sept. 4.—The Eighth Annual Conference on the Unification of Railway Accounts and Statistics, once scheduled to be held last May, but postponed owing to the interruption of communications caused by the war, will take up many important questions.

There will be more than twenty questions to be discussed in the coming meeting including (1) the revision of budget form, (2) the revision of classification of capital expenditure, (3) the revision of forms and rules of station accounts, (4) the revision of forms and rules of the store accounts, and (5) other important problems.

In the year 1913, there was established in the Ministry of Communications a Commission on the Unification of Railway Accounts and Statistics for the purpose of making improvements on the accounts and statistics of different government railways. The Commission was composed of accounting and statistical experts in the Ministry and Chinese and foreign accountants from the different railways. Professor Henry C. Adams, the late noted American authority on economics, particularly railway economics, was invited to become its advisor. The Commission was in session for one year and six months; a large number of meetings were held.

As a result of the laborious work of the Commission, a book known as "Accounting Rules and Classifications of Railways prescribed by the Ministry of Communications" embracing seven main divisions was published, and various forms for annual reports of different railways were adopted. Beginning with 1915, there was started the unified compilation of accounts and statistics by different lines. Since then general statistics of Government Railways have been issued to the public at the end of every year in both the Chinese and the English language so that the operating conditions and financial standings of different lines can be examined at a glance within a short time by foreigners as well as Chinese.

When the sessions of the Commission were concluded, it was turned into a permanent organisation known as "The Standing Committee on the Unification of Railway Accounts and Statistics," with Mr. J. E. Baker, another American authority, as its advisor. This Committee calls representatives from various railways to Peking and holds conference on Railway accounting problems once every year and from these conferences, rules and forms for station accounts, store accounts, and construction accounts have been compiled and adopted. The splendid work done by this Committee since its establishment have won much respect and admiration from both Chinese and foreign railway experts.

Canton Signs Pact With Hongkong

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, Sept. 4.—An agreement has been concluded between the Finance Department of the Canton Government and the Shameen Branch of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation that the latter will accept from the public, deposits of the paper money of the Bank of Kwangtung to the amount of $10,000,000 as fixed deposits. The Eastern News Agency learns, in this connection, that the object of the agreement is to lessen the amount of the bank-notes now in circulation in the Canton market.
